Dear Mr. Anderson:

We have completed the analysis of your water sample 775-1019 some time ago. The original copy was mailed to you in early November. We have now received the WI-1 form in connection with this application, and it is being sent on to the State Conservation Commission along with a copy of this letter and the water analysis.

I foresee no difficulty in irrigation of most soils with this water. The salinity, although medium high, should not cause difficulty if you irrigate in fairly large quantities, but rather infrequently. By this I mean you should use applications of at least 3 inches, preferably more each time and not irrigate more than 2 or 3 times in any one growing season. Under this type of management, the tendency for salt to accumulate in the upper part of the soil profile is minimized.

As indicated above, copies of this material are being sent to the State Conservation Commission. You will hear from them for further instructions on procedure.

A copy of extension circular 654 is being enclosed herewith for your use and the approximate quality of this water for irrigation purposes is indicated by the red cross on the outside back cover in the water quality chart.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dennert:

On October 6, 1988, the Water Management Board adopted rules to implement a 1988 law for application of chemicals through irrigation systems. The rules establish equipment standards, performance standards and installation requirements for irrigation systems that apply chemicals (fertilizers, insecticides, or herbicides) with irrigation water.

You have indicated on your 1988 Water Management Board Irrigation Questionnaire that you do apply chemicals with irrigation water. A copy of the new rules for chemigation are enclosed for your information.

The new standards include:

- * a check valve between the irrigation pump and the point of chemical injection;
- * a vacuum relief valve on top of the pipeline between the irrigation pump and the irrigation pipeline check valve;
- * a low-pressure drain on the bottom of the pipeline between the irrigation pump and the irrigation pipeline check valve;
- * a chemical injection line check valve between the chemical injection pump and the point at which the chemical is injected into the irrigation line; a second check valve is required if the chemical injection pump is not a positive displacement pump;
- * an interlock system which ensures that the chemical injection pump will stop whenever the irrigation pump stops;
- * an inspection port between the irrigation pump and the check valve on the irrigation line;

Each of these equipment requirements are discussed more thoroughly in Sections 74:02:09:05 through 74:02:09:10 of the enclosed rules. Appendix A contains diagrams of the arrangements of these anti-pollution devices.

The equipment must be installed according to the manufacturer's specifications, calibrated, and maintained in good working condition. All chemical product labels must be followed and warning signs must be posted. These rules also require reporting of all spills, accidents, and system malfunctions. A 24-hour telephone number is provided.

The chemigation rules contain notification and record keeping requirements. Prior to using chemigation, notification must be given to the Chief Engineer on the enclosed Form 1C. Information that must be provided in this notification includes the water permit or right number, the name, address, and telephone number of the water permit or right holder and of the system operator, and the legal description of the lands on which the system is located. A record of the name, quantity, dates and hours of each chemical applied must be provided to the Chief Engineer on Form 2C. A copy of this form is also enclosed for your information. It will be mailed with the annual irrigation questionnaire and must be returned with the questionnaire by the date specified. If you have any questions regarding these rules or need additional copies of the forms, please contact Susan Bowar, Water Rights Engineer (605-773-3352).

Very truly yours,

John Hatch

NOTE: Water permits may be cancelled for nonconstruction after the five year construction period has expired. Once a water permit is developed and the water used, the permit becomes a right. A water right may be lost for three reasons:

1. Abandonment - no intent to use water and use is abandoned.
2. Forfeiture - no use of water for three year period without legal excuse.
3. For a third violation of a condition of a water permit/right.
